People can sign back on now. I feel 99.5% sure this site won't crash for awhile. I have signed onto a new, more reputable, host and plan on being here for a long, long time.

From now on when people sign up I will be changing thier name in profiler to their username. Although this isn't visable to the public it does show up at random instead of usernames in some of the modules (like the Voyeur and under author name by default.

If anyone has any objections...come and get me. :unsure:

The site was hacked last Friday night or possibly Saturday. I have taken extra security measures so if anyone comes across any issues with error pages while submitting work...just let me know. :dry:
